Herrmann made a baseball record by engineering the peace agreement, but his latest stand in the Davis case indicates that he is hand and glove with the American Leaguea position that is declared untenable by a majority of the National owners.

Pulliam, according to Harry Von der Horst, of the Brooklyn club, is no more a hired man than is the President of the United States. He was elected pres-ident of the National League by a for-mal vote and the fact that he draws a salary does not belittle him or his posi-tion.
